Wedding Etiquette

The Top Table

The top table seating arrangement facing your guests should normally read, from left to right:

Chief Bridesmaid | Groom's Father | Bride's Mother | Groom | Bride | Bride's Father | Groom's Mother | Best Man

The Receiving Line

This is a great way to ensure that you see everyone on your special day and is both courteous and practical. A great time to do this is before your drinks reception or afterwards, immediately before your Wedding Breakfast.

Speeches and Toasts

THE FIRST TOAST - BRIDE'S FATHER

This is usually the duty and honour of the Bride's Father or a very close relative or friend. It is usual to give a special toast to the Bride and Groom.

THE SECOND TOAST - THE BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM

The Groom responds to this toast on behalf of himself and his Bride. At this point he usually makes the second toast to the Bridesmaids.

THE THIRD TOAST - THE BEST MAN

On behalf of the Bridesmaids, the Best Man responds to the Groom's Toast. It is usually his duty to read out messages of congratulations. It is not usual for the Best Man to repeat the toast to the Bride and Groom.

CUTTING THE CAKE

At British weddings, the cutting of the cake by the Bride and Groom together usually takes place at the end of the meal, prior to coffee. This is usually photographed by the wedding photographer and guests alike.

Asian Wedding Ceremonies

Cakes by Hilary

Her first attempt at making a birthday cake was on the occasion of her twin daughters' Bat Mitzvah. Everybody was wary as to what the outcome would be, but were pleasantly surprised that it turned out to be edible! That first venture was a colourful and funky popcorn bowl, complete with popcorn, to finish the design. Despite the initial reservations, it was extremely tasty and well received.

Since then, with the encouragement of friends and family, she has progressed to more complex and difficult cakes and continues to excel. She looks forward to people ringing up to take on new challenges. The designs continue to be more and more wonderful.

She eagerly awaits your call!
